

MONDAY'S TEAM — The Little Fatso
Reminiscing of the emotions conveyed in Yoji Yamada films, the flavors offered by Little Fatso are warm and sincere and are believed by many East District dwellers as the best cure for Monday blues.
However, before you go to them to get a bite of comfort food, please take a moment to understand some unwritten rules about the crew at Little Fatso and how to place your order there.

Tasks are delegated amongst the Little Fatso crew according to the following:

Take up these tips on how to order and say goodbye to any shade of blue at lunchtime on Monday:
STEP1 : Decide what you want while waiting in line
STEP2 : When you have decided on what you want, please lock eyes with one of the aunties working there. Make sure your eye contact is firm.
STEP3 : Then, proceed to tell her clearly the dishes that you want. Remember, please don't just say, "This, this, and that" when you are ordering, or the aunties may be confused by what exactly do you want.
